Chapter 386: The Third World Tree

The Creation of the Third World Tree

In the heart of the True Absolute One Domain Realm, where time and space ceased to hold sway, Sung Jin-Woo planted the Third World Tree. This majestic creation stood before his throne, stretching its branches upwards for light-years, touching the very boundaries of the realm. Its roots, like living tendrils, burrowed deep into the very foundation of the domain, entwining with the fabric of existence itself.

This third tree was a magnificent fusion of the first two, combining the essence of the Sea of Afterlife's World Tree and the Heavenly Realm Universe's mighty counterpart. It represented the pinnacle of life, creation, and divine authority.

The Power and Essence of the Third World Tree

Branches of Light and Life

The branches of the Third World Tree were unlike anything seen before, shimmering with divine light that illuminated the entire True Absolute One Domain Realm. Every leaf was crafted from the purest light, each one imbued with the potential to bear incredible power.

1. Divine Fruits:

The fruits that grew from the highest branches of the tree were composed of pure light. These fruits contained unimaginable power and divine energy, capable of shaping the very essence of reality itself.

The best fruits, from the brightest branches, bore the gift of life: two-to-six-winged angels. These beings, though not as powerful as the Archangels, possessed incredible divine abilities. They were the guardians of the realm and the embodiment of pure, celestial light. Their wings sparkled with divine energy, allowing them to travel effortlessly across dimensions.

2. Lesser Fruits:

The lower branches bore lesser fruits, still radiant, but more grounded in nature. These fruits bore mythical creatures, such as griffins, phoenixes, dragons, and other legendary beings. Each creature was born from the fusion of divine light and the elemental forces that governed the True Absolute One Domain Realm.

These creatures were imbued with the strength of the Third World Tree itself, carrying out tasks that ranged from guarding the sacred grounds to assisting the divine armies of the Triad.

Growth and Influence

The roots of the Third World Tree extended deep into the foundation of the realm, drawing power from the very core of existence. Its growth was a continuous cycle, where every fruit born enriched the realm with more power, life, and divine beings. The roots also formed a connection to the other World Trees across the multiverse, further solidifying Sung Jin-Woo's dominion over all creation.

The Guardians of the Realm: Two-to-Six-Winged Angels

The two-to-six-winged angels, birthed from the highest fruits of the Third World Tree, were more than just warriors; they were the perfect balance of light and life, carrying the will of the True Absolute One across the multiverse. They served as emissaries of Sung Jin-Woo's divine will, enforcing the peace and justice that he upheld.

Abilities and Traits:

These angels possessed an innate connection to the divine energies of the Third World Tree. Their wings, crafted from celestial light, granted them unmatched speed, agility, and power.

They could manipulate the forces of life, creation, and light, bringing healing or destruction as needed. They were also capable of reforming the balance of realms, shaping the flow of time and space with a single command.

The higher the number of wings, the greater the angel's connection to the divine energy of the Third World Tree. Those with six wings were the strongest, able to transcend dimensions and travel through the fabric of existence at will.

The Legacy of the Third World Tree

With the planting of the Third World Tree, Sung Jin-Woo had once again expanded his influence. Not only did it represent a new source of divine creation, but it was also a symbol of his ever-growing power. Its fruits would sustain and protect his realm, while its roots would bind his dominion together, ensuring the eternal growth of the True Absolute One Domain Realm.

This third tree was more than just a creation-it was a living testament to the god-like powers of Sung Jin-Woo and his undying pursuit of divinity and balance across the multiverse.

As the tree grew, so too would the legacy of the Divine Triad, ensuring their reign would remain unchallenged for eons to come.
